EMBRACE YOUR FUTURE

Halloween may be largely associated with America, but that doesn't mean other nations don't celebrate the frightful holiday. American Scholar Group (ASG) hosted the annual Halloween Party for staff and students on October 28th, 2016 in the Student Banquet Hall.

The Banquet Hall, while usually used for a full range of formal occasions, was decked out in spooky decorations. Students came dressed in various costumes, from evil clowns and sumo wrestlers, to zombies, movie characters and more! As always, the event included a costume contest. This year's contest was conducted via a fashion show. Students took turns to parade their costumes before a panel of judges comprised of ASG staff and fellow students.

The participants were judged according to effort, creativity, and presentation. Jeovana Zhang won 1st place, Ezekiel Lim came in 2nd, and Celina Zhao came in 3rd Place. Each winner took home cash prizes of $50, $30 and $20 respectively.

A number of student clubs also hosted exhibits and events at the costume party including a performance by the ASG Music Club, a display and video presentation by the Vision club and lastly the Fashion & Cosmetics Society set up a Halloween makeup booth!

We hope you enjoy this view book prepared especially for you to share in our night of Halloween magic!

Spooky Treats & Haunted Fun

The Fashion & Cosmetics Society hosted a Halloween Make-up booth where they completed students costumes with fun and creative make-up!

The students showed off their creativity this evening by coming dressed as everything a creepy clown to a gothic vampire.

ASG Music Club Rock Out

The ASG Music Club performed several numbers for all of the party goers. They even got the audience to sing along with their songs!
